

Bryan College Station Retriever Club

Training Grounds Agreement

The Bryan-College Station Retriever Club has the great privilege of leasing land on an annual basis to provide training grounds for our members. We expect our club members to treat this land with the greatest amount of respect and responsibility. Any actions contrary to that may cause the club to lose this privilege.

Members will sign this contract stating they will abide by these rules. If a club member is found by the Board to be in violation of the rules, then their privileges, use of the training ground, and/or membership will be forfeited. The Sheriff's department in jurisdiction will be sent the names, vehicle type and license plates of members whose privileges have been revoked. They will be considered trespassers.

1. All BCSRC Members in good standing may use the Club Training Grounds. Members must read and abide by the Lease Agreement between the Landowners and BCSRC (see Lease Agreements found on the club website).
2. Leave the property cleaner than you found it. Pick up all shotgun hulls and other trash, even if they are not yours.
3. Do not harass livestock, and under no circumstances let your dog chase cattle, horses, or any other livestock. If your dog is a livestock chaser, do not bring it to the training grounds until you have corrected the problem.
4. Do not cross any boundary fences into other property. DO NOT trespass.
5. The individual member is responsible for any damage done to fences gates or other property by him, his dog, or his invited guest. Keep all gates closed behind you.
6. Helpers who are non-members may be invited to assist in training, but no more than two at a time. Immediate family members of a BCSRC member who joined on Individual Membership rather than Family Membership will not be considered a guest. This is to promote families who want to participate in club activities to join with Family Memberships rather than Individual Membership.
7. No hunting privileges are allowed to BCSRC Members under this agreement. All live or dead training birds must be legally obtained and banded under State rules governed by the TPWD.
8. Stay on roads during wet weather and try to keep from driving off roads as much as possible during other times.
9. If you see anything unusual, such as a sick livestock, down fence or gate, un-authorized people on the land, immediately contact a Board member.

New members are allowed to use the club training grounds but are strongly encouraged to participate in club meetings, hunting tests, and other BCSRC functions in order to preserve the privileges.
